An Easter Message from Mayor Judy Sheets

As the days grow longer and flowers begin to bloom, there is a renewed sense of energy throughout our beautiful city. Spring has always been a season of transformation and seeing our community head outdoors after the cold winter months is truly one of my favorite times of the year.

Easter is a wonderful time to reflect on the themes of hope and renewal. Whether you are attending a local egg hunt, gathering with family for a holiday meal, or simply enjoying a quiet moment of gratitude, I hope this season brings you peace and joy.

The arrival of spring isn't just about the flowers; it's about getting back outside and connecting with one another. I am personally so excited for the warm weather ahead. Soon, our parks will be filled with activity, Sapphire Bay will be bustling, and our downtown streets will become a place for visiting with neighbors and enjoying the sunshine.

As we move into this Easter season, let's remember what truly makes Frankfort special, our kindness toward one another. Whether it's a friendly wave to a neighbor or a helping hand for someone in need, these small gestures of grace define our hometown. Let's carry that spirit of compassion into every corner of our city this season.

I encourage you to take a walk through our historic parks, visit our local shops, and take pride in the home we are building together.

On behalf of the City of Frankfort, I wish you and your loved ones a very Happy Easter, and a season filled with kindness and joy.

God Bless,

Judith E. Sheets

Judy Sheets,
Mayor, City of Frankfort
